

A Farmer's 23rd Psalm

By: David A. Bigley

*The Lord is like a good and wise farmer,
For he plants my soul in the rich soil of his love and cares for me.
The roots of my faith reach for the life-giving waters, that he irrigates my spirit with, in the hot dry months of summer.
He plants me in straight rows,
and cultivates my character for his name's sake.
I will not fear the drought or storms of life, for he tenaciously watches over me and is with me at all times.
It is quite evident that he is proud of me,
for he lovingly nurtures my growth, celebrating my progress.
And I will dwell with God forever as his precious grain of wheat, when comes the time of harvest.*

Jay Strom passed away peacefully with advanced lung disease on Friday, October 23, 2020.

Jay was born and grew up in Worthington, Minnesota on a hog, beef, soybean and corn farm. He learned early hard work, joy of farming, management of money and was surrounded by extended family with a warm rural church community. He and his wife brought this experience to Guelph, Canada in 1972, where he died last week as the patriarch of Strom’s Farm & Bakery. He is survived by his wife of 56 years Marg (née Hess) from PA. He was proud of his three sons Channing (Amy) and their two sons Lucas and Evan (Krista), Eric (Joanne) and their three children Ciara, Hannah and Owen, and Ryan (Jody) and their three children Tori, Bennett and Elliott. He is predeceased by his sister Maralee and survived by his siblings Sheryl (Glen) and Jon (Elma). He is also survived by many cousins, nieces and nephews in the US.

Jay has been cremated and his interment will take place at a later date.
